FIRST SESSION OF THE 57TH
CONGRESS CONVENED.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE WILL BE READ TUESDAY.

HENDERSON ELECTED SPEAKER.

Reciprocity, Nicaraguan Canal Ship
Subsidy, Pacific Cable—Forecast
of Week in Congress.

Washington, Dec. 2.—(Bulletin).—
The 57th Congress was called to order promptly at noon today.

At one o'clock this afternoon D. B.
Henderson of Iowa, was declared to have been elected speaker of the House of Representatives of the 57th Congress. Mr. Henderson made a brief speech of thanks and at 1:10

CONGRESSMAN J. D. RICHARDSON.

p. m. he was sworn in by Congressman Bingham of Pennsylvania, the oldest member of the House in point of service.

Washington, Dec. 2.—(Bulletin).—
The Senate adjourned at two o'clock this afternoon out of respect to the late Senator Kyle.

Washington, Dec. 2.—The house of representatives of the Fifty-seventh Congress convened at noon in its first session. General Henderson of Iowa was re-elected speaker, and he responded with a felicitous speech. Mr.
Bingham (Pa.) "the father of the house," administered the oath. The old officers of the house next were re-elected and sworn in. The customary resolutions were adopted, and committees were named to inform the president and the senate that the house was ready for business and to receive any communication the president may have to make. The president's annual message will be withheld until Tuesday.

General Grosvenor of Ohio probably will make the sad announcement to the house of the death of the late President McKinley and offer the resolutions upon which the house will act.

After Tuesday the house probably will adjourn three days at a time until Congress recesses for the Christmas holidays. Speaker Henderson will occupy this time preparing his committee lists, which will be announced as soon as the house convenes after the holidays. Practically no business will be transacted before the holidays.

WEEK IN THE SENATE.

Important Measures Will Occupy the Center of the Stage.

Washington, Dec. 2.—One of the first measures of national interest which will be introduced in the senate at its session will be a resolution looking to public action concerning the death of President McKinley. This will be presented on Tuesday by either Senator Foraker or Senator Hanna, probably the former, and after its introduction the senate will adjourn immediately as a mark of respect to the memory of the dead president. The annual message of President Roosevelt will not be received until Tuesday, and on this account the session of Tuesday will be exceedingly brief. It is not now expected that anything will be done on that day beyond the announcement of the death of Senator Kyle, following which the senate, in accordance with custom, will adjourn for the day. On Tuesday
the president's message will be read,
and after its reading the announcement of the death of President McKinley will follow at once, whereupon, under the precedent established when Presidents Lincoln and Garfield died, resolutions providing for the appointment of a committee to act with a similar committee of the house of representatives to take appropriate action relative to the matter and then calling for immediate adjournment for the day will be adopted.

Wednesday and Thursday will be devoted to the introduction of new bills, and as usual there will be a flood of them. Among the first bills of importance to be presented will be the ship subsidy bill, which will be introduced by Senator Frye, and the Nicaragua canal bill, which Senator Morgan will present. Senator Frye has not entirely completed his bill, but he said that it would be different in many details from the old bill of last session. That measure was framed by former Senator Edmunds. Senator Frye himself is the author of the new bill. Senator Morgan's canal bill will be a duplicate of Representative Hepburn's bill on the canal question. Other early bills of importance will be one looking to the construction of a submarine cable from the western coast of Hawaii and another providing for the establishment of a new executive department to be known as the department of commerce. The various reciprocity treaties now pending will probably be called up.

American League Moguls.
Chicago, Dec. 2.—The majority of the leaders of the American Baseball league arrived here to attend the annual meeting of the league, when plans for the coming season will be perfected. With the clubs at Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore strongly fortified, it leaves the allotment of stock in the new club at St. Louis the only vital question to be settled. The Killins of Milwaukee have been given a chance to assume control of the St.
Louis club, but from the present outlook St. Louis capital will control the team.

PAN AMERICAN SHORTAGE.
Washington, Dec. 2.—Among the early measures to be introduced in the House will be a bill to reimburse the Pan-American Exposition company, in the sum of $500,000, intended to cover part of its losses on account of the falling off of business at the exposition during the last days of the President's life.

COL. I. R. HILL RE-ELECTED.
Washington, Dec. 2.—Isaac R. Hill of Newark, Ohio, who has been the Democratic "whip" for many years, has been re-elected assistant sergeant-at-arms, and James English of California, Fenton B. Knight of Georgia, and Ewing Bland of Missouri, son of the late Representative Bland, were re-elected to fill the minor house offices allotted to the minority.

SEVERAL BILLS
Introduced in Congress on the Opening
Day by Grosvenor Congressman
From Ohio.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Representative
Grosvenor of Ohio, introduced the following bills today: To give preference in appointments to civil office to all honorably discharged soldiers and sailors, not only those discharged by reason of disability.

For a $50,000 public building at Chillicothe, Ohio.

For a memorial arch at Chattanooga
to be known as the "Arch of Nationality," to commemorate the heroism of the American soldier and the complete union of all sections resulting from the war with Spain. Authorizing the Secretary of War to use the Chickamauga and Chattanooga National park for military maneuvers of the regular army and the national guards.

To prevent trespassing upon and vandalism in the Chickamauga and Chattanooga National park.

To prevent the label of the allied printing trades on all government publications.

To grant a pension to all officers and enlisted men who served 90 days
in the war of the rebellion at the rate of $5 per month.

To modify and simplify the pension
laws of the United States.

To apply a portion of the proceeds of the sale of public lands to the endowment of schools of mining and metallurgy.

To permit national banking associations to make loans upon real estate security and to limit the amount of such loans.

To allow manufacturers of playing cards to imprint a national revenue stamp.

Ended in Death.
Chicago, Dec. 2.—"Dutch" Reininger, the middle-weight pugilist, died
today from the effects of injuries received at the hands of Jim Driscoll in a six round contest Saturday night.
Reining-er was knocked out but was so severely punished about the head
in the last round that he became delirious soon after leaving the ring.
Hemorrhage of the brain was the immediate cause of his death.

One million miles is the "length" of an American locomotive's life.

THE three men most conspicuous in the opening of congress are President Roosevelt, who, for the first time, has a "congress on his hands." Hon. David B. Henderson, the speaker of the house of representatives, and Senator William P. Frye, who is president pro tempore of the senate and will preside because there is now no vice president of the United States to wield the gavel over the senators. Being a part of President McKinley's first term Senator Frye was the senate's presiding officer owing to the death of Vice President Hobart.

AT CHARLESTON
Exposition Opens Under Favorable
Conditions—2,000 Men Worked Sunday Completing Buildings.

Charleston, N. C., Dec. 2.—The South Carolina Interstate and West India exposition was formally opened today with a monster parade of military and civic bodies. 10,000 men being in line. The oration was delivered by Senator Chauncey Depew.

Two thousand men worked Sunday finishing the buildings.

IN HIS MOUTH
He Put the Billiard Ball, But Was Sorry For It—Causes Great Suffering.

New York, Dec. 2.—Nathaniel Hicks, who has charge of the billiard room at Quartet Club Hall, broken, has an unpleasant half hour Sunday. In a fit of spirit of fun he picked up a billiard ball and offered to water that he could put the ball in his mouth. His friends laughed at him. Hicks said he would show them how it could be done. And he did. But the moment he got the ball into his mouth his jaws closed with a snap, and to his horror he could not get them open again. His evident suffering alarmed
his friends, and Dr. J. F. Zenneke was hurriedly summoned. He managed to get Hicks' jaws open in 20 minutes before he succeeded in extracting the ball.

NO BOUT ALLOWED.

Columbus, Dec. 2.—Gov. Nash has given orders that the prize fight
scheduled to come off at Richmond,
Lake county, tonight must be prevented. The Sheriff of that county has been ordered to use his power to stop the fight. The fight was to be between Jimmy Hoy and "Farmer"
Reader, light weights.

The cost of cable from San Francisco to Honolulu is put at $3,000,000.

TURKEY
JUST NOW HAVING ALL KINDS OF TROUBLE.

A GOVERNOR DEMANDS 12,000
REINFORCEMENTS.

TO PUT DOWN LAWLESS ARABS
Troops Previously Sent Having Muti-
nied—Lack of Pay—Now Russia
Makes a Demand.

Constantinople, Dec. 2.—Turkey's internal troubles are increasing in alarming fashion. The governor of Yemen has demanded 12,000 reinforcements to put down the lawless
Arabs in the interior, who lately assumed the offensive.

The special force who were previously sent to Yemen and whose terms expired notified because they did not receive the pay due them.
They sacked the magazine and the shops and houses in all quarters of the town and when the governor ordered the regulars to fire upon the lawless troops, they refused to do so.
The Sultan finally sent money to pay
the men, but he is unable to send more troops.

Now to add to Abdul Hamid's troubles, Russia has demanded that he extend the present Turkish arrangements in Constantinople.

Military Reserve.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Assistant Secretary of War Sargent has decided a plan for organization with the authority of congress of a Federal Military reserve. The idea is to keep on the state militia list place it under the direct control of the Secretary of War. Secretary Root approves it and probably there will be military manuevers like those of France and Germany with large bodies of troops.

The American warehouse in Shanghai was closed on October 15.

ACTRESS' CASE
For Breach of Promise Against Duke
of Manchester Scheduled for Trial
This Week.

London, Dec. 2.—The suit of Miss Portia Knight, the actress, against the Duke of Manchester for breach of promise is on the calendar for trial
this week before King's bench. Sir Edward Clark, former solicitor general, said to be the bitterest cross-examiner in England, has charge of Miss Knight's case. Miss Knight's father is here to aid her and Eugene Zimmerman of Cincinnati, the Duke's
father-in-law, is also in London.

Clark is Dead.

Toledo, Dec. 2.—Wilbert H. Clark, the newspaper man of Detroit and Cleveland, who took poison last night
with suicidal intent, died this morning in a hospital here.

USUAL CROWD PRESENT.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Congress opened with the usual large crowd of spectators this noon. All members were on hand, including those returning from the Philippines and delayed
by accident to a transport, also member Wilcox from Hawaii, also commissioner Deagan of Porto Rico, who has the privilege of the floor but no vote.

MRS. NATION

Through Correspondence With Pension Department Has Two Special Agents Sent to Kansas.

Wichita, Kansas, Dec. 2.—Carrie Nation the saloon wrecker, has taken another method of using her reform schemes. Through her correspondence with the pension bureau at Washington two special agents of the Pension department arrived here and will report the stoppage of pensions coming to several widows on the ground of improper conduct. The crusade is extended all over Kansas and Oklahoma.

MISS STONE
Rev. Henry Haskell Thinks that There
Are Good Reasons for Believing
That She is Dead.

New York, Dec. 2.—Rev. Henry Haskell, American representative of foreign missions in Bulgaria, has said that there are good reasons for believing that the common report that Miss Stone, the missionary, has been killed, is true. He bases his conclusion on the fact that the brigands are making all sorts of excuses for not accepting the ransom and refuse to let the government representative visit the brigands' camp to certify the prisoner is alive before the ransom is paid.

AWFUL DEATH
OF JACOB UHRIG WHO FORM-ERLY LIVED IN NEWARK.

Body Cut in Two by an Engine at Chillicothe—A Faithful Railway Man.

The Chillicothe News-Advertiser
publishes a full account of the fatal injury received by Jacob Uhrig, formerly a Newark man.

The deceased was a life long, careful employee of the B. & O. S. W. road.
He was ground to pieces under the wheels of one of the engines.

Mr. Uhrig had been for years the night foreman of the lower yard crew.
His duties were very similar to those of the yard master, for he assisted in the making up of trains going east and west and had three brakemen under his command at all times.

Shortly before six o'clock Mr. Uhrig and his crew and the yard engine took a cut of eight cars from main track
into a siding in order that the main line would be clear for No. 13, the evening passenger train that arrives
here at 5:50 from the east.

About the time that No. 13, passed
the oil house, one of the big hog engines, No. 1561 was passing down one of the sidings on the way to the coal chute to be laden with coal. It was in charge of Hostler James Brooks, and the theory is that Mr. Uhrig, after closing the main switch stepped on the siding and was borne down by this iron monster.

The hostler on the engine did not see Mr. Uhrig at all, and he continued on his way to the coal chute. The body was first discovered by some shop men who were on their way home. It was dark and Mr. Uhrig's lamp was found near the body, the same being extinguished.

Mr. Uhrig's body was frightfully mutilated. It was severed entirely in two at the waist, and the body lay inside of the rails face downward, while the legs were on the outside of the tracks. The entrails were lying along the rails for a considerable distance. The left arm had also been severed from the body.

In addition to the terrible injuries
mentioned the left foot was badly crushed, while the lower jaw bone was broken in two places. There was also a large cut in the neck, and numerous other hurts and bruises. Mr. Adam Falter was the first to reach the body
and when he did so it was at once seen that death had been instantaneous.

The remains were tenderly gathered up and taken to Lowrey's undertaking establishment where they were prepared for burial. Mrs. Uhrig was not at home when the tragedy occurred,
but had to be summoned from Athens.
This was a terrible shock to the grief-
stricken widow.

Mr. Uhrig was in the employ of the B. & O. S. W. under its various managements. He was originally a butcher by trade but gave up that business to accept railroad duties. He worked for a time at Newark, in the B. & O.
yards, but the most of the time he lived in Chillicothe.

A widow and three children survive.
The children are Mrs. Presley Fletcher and John Uhrig, operator at the stock yards at Cincinnati, and Will Uhrig, who is employed in the shops.
All were devoted to the father and the shock was a terrible one.

The funeral took place from the home on East Main street on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and was under the auspices of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, of which order
Mr. Uhrig was a valued member.

OPINION THAT THE PROSECUTION HAS FAILED

TO ESTABLISH CASE AGAINST
MRS. BONINE IS GENERAL.

THE DEFENDANT IS CONFIDENT.

She Will Be Cleared of the Charge—
Thirty-six Witnesses for Defense
Are Called.

Washington, Dec. 2.—The government examined 36 witnesses in the Bonine case before it rested Saturday,
and the defense has about as many.
It is not believed that they will all be called, however. A striking point is that witnesses for Mrs. Bonine have, almost without exception, volunteered without the formality of a summons. An interesting study of psychology is offered by the fact that her own sex are almost unanimously against the defendant while the men are quite as strongly lined up in her favor.

The general opinion is that the government has failed to establish a case and unless something of a revolution occurs in the cross examination and examination in rebuttal only one result can be forecast—acquittal.
Mrs. Bonine continues perfectly confident that she will be cleared of the charge.

The Real Situation.

Mr. J. C. Brennan, a member of the Board of Health, told the Advocate Monday afternoon that there has not been a new case of smallpox in Newark for three weeks. There are four patients in the pest house but they are nearly well and will be discharged in a few days. But two houses in the city are quarantined.

DECISION
Of Supreme Court in the Fourteen
Diamond Rings Case Has Just Been Announced.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Chief Justice
Fuller today announced the decision of the Supreme court of the United States in the insular tariff case of Emil J. Pepke vs. the United States,
commonly known as the Fourteen Diamond Ring case. The court holds that the Philippines have been a part of the United States since the signing of the treaty of Paris, and that no duties are collectable on goods passing to the United States from those islands.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Today's decision declaring that the Philippines are domestic territory while antagonistic to the contentions of the government in this particular case, is in conformity with the decision of the court in the other insular cases.

RECEIPTS
Of the Newark Postoffice for Month
Of November Show Increase—More Carriers Needed.

The receipts at the Newark Postoffice for November, for stamps,
stamped paper and postal cards
amounted to $2,415.56 as against $1,- 542.76 for November of last year.
This is an increase of $472.80 over the same month for last year, and is indicative of a large increase in the population of the city. The enormous loads of mail that the carriers are now taking out do not allow of their delivering the mail as promptly as desired. Monday every man had two loads of mail, and none of them returned to the office until 12:30 o'clock.
The request for two more carriers is certainly reasonable and should be granted by the department without delay.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Estimates of the treasury department for all government appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1902 aggregate $610,828,693.47 as compared with $606, 596,877.57, appropriated for 1902.

ORGANIZATION OF CONGRESS.

The Congressional House caucuses of the Democratic and Republican members convened on Saturday, and, as announced in the Advocate's telegraph dispatches, nominated their respective candidates for Speaker and other House officers. The Republicans renominated Representative Henderson of Iowa, and the Democratic caucus conferred the honor upon Representative Richardson, of Tennessee.

Of course the decisive Republican majority settled the re-election of Henderson in the House today.

The nomination for Speaker by the Democrats carried nothing with it but accepted leadership of the minority of the House, and prominence on committees and in debates.

The Democrats being powerless in both houses to carry out a declared policy as to the future, are relieved from formulating any plans. Mr. Richardson, however, as the leader by courtesy, has probably summed up Democratic judgment as to the work of the session in an interview he has given, out specifying certain clearly defined issues upon which they will meet the Republicans. He says:

First—I think we should stand for reciprocity and demand legislation upon this subject that would be practical and of benefit to American producers and American consumers.

Second—That Democrats should advocate reduction of the tariff, the removal of the prohibitive features at least.

Third—We will certainly work for retrenchment in the expenditures and endeavor to prevent extravagant wastefulness in the use of the people's money.

Fourth—We will demand legislation for the suppression and control of the trusts. The Republicans of the House passed an anti-trust law last Congress, but it was carefully pigeon-holed by the Republicans in the Senate.

Fifth—In my opinion there should be reduction of war taxes. A large surplus has been piled up, and it should be returned to the people through curtailment of the internal revenue taxation to which they are now subjected. We are ready to join hands with any party to do these things.

Mr. Richardson added that he saw no prospect of any legislation against trusts. It is noticeable that in his program he says not a word about free coinage or currency, which may be regarded as his acceptance of the situation that they are dead issues.

Among the minor positions in the House organization, Col. Isaac R. Hill was again named as the Democratic assistant sergeant-at-arms—the position that he has held for so many years to the entire satisfaction of the Democratic members of Congress.

Things Worth Remembering.

(Milwaukee Journal.)
We don't want to be unkind, but if we are always to be remembering the one or two little things that England has done for us and throwing it up as reasons for bowing down to her, let us remember what France did for us; what England did against us several times, especially when she was ready to interfere during the Civil War and only the presence of the Russian fleet bearing friendly messages and, as afterwards shown, ready to fight for us prevented her doing it. It is well to remember all the truth sometimes.

After all, France did nothing original. It has been customary for years to make a big fuss over Turkey just before Thanksgiving.

The population of the Australian Commonwealth, according to the latest returns, is 2,775,366.

Farmers and Tariff Reform.

(New York World.)

Demand for revision of the tariff comes from the Republican farmers, especially from the intelligent, progressive Republican farmers of the almost wholly agricultural states of the great middle west. Their case is simple and unanswerable. They point to the discriminating duties against American farm products enacted in Europe through resentment against our tariff exclusiveness and they demand reciprocity. They point to the combinations which have extinguished competition within the tariff wall and they demand a restoration of competition by a judicious lowering of that wall—that is, they demand revision. They point to the combinations which sell goods more cheaply abroad than at home and as to the tariff schedules enabling this they demand repeal. This programme appeals to the common sense of the whole American people. It appeals to the self-interest of all of them except the few who profit so enormously by the tariff injustice.

Boston is to hold a city election in a few days, and it attracts considerable attention by the fact that General Patrick A. Collins is the Democratic candidate for Mayor, and home rule the principal issue. Mayor Hart is the Republican candidate. For several years the Republican Legislature has been mixing in the administration of Boston, and it has become very objectionable. Boston is a Democratic city, and General Collins will probably be elected by a big majority. He served several terms in Congress, and was chairman of the judiciary committee. Later, Mr. Cleveland appointed him consul general at London.

An Ever-Living Principle.

(Rochester, N. Y., Herald.)
The world has no other example, aside from a religious one, where a great principle has survived so many buffetings as democracy. Its obituary has been written these many years and often, yet it presents the same solid front to the enemy that it did one, two, three generations ago.

G. & C. MERRIAM COMPANY

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

WEBSTER'S INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY.

THE JOY OF RETURNING

"Pull in the oars, Rose, and let us drift down the stream a bit."
I obeyed willingly, for it was a warm day, and I realized after an hour's steady rowing that the charms of the riverside could be better appreciated when the hands were idle. Learning back in my cushions, I listened to the drone of the bees and the musical lapping of the water against the sides of the boat, watching meanwhile the varying expressions which flitted over my companion's face.

"How sweet and peaceful it all is here," she half mused. "Just a day for me to forget my troubles, have I ever kept a secret from you?"
"Not to my knowledge," I returned.

"Well, there is one big secret which I have always kept locked up in my own heart, the only one, I think, that I ever refrained from confiding to you. I am going to tell you it now. How long is it since I first came to live with you?"

"Two years," I answered somewhat anxiously, "and the happiest two years of my life. Don't say you are thinking of leaving me yet awhile."
"Did I never strike you as being a strange thing for me to leave my home and friends and come and bury myself in the country like this?"

"I thought perhaps," I began blunderingly, "that you might have had some disappointment—that is—"
I broke off in some confusion, and my friend looked at me intently from under her long fringed eyelids.

"You were quite right," she said, the smile dying away from her mouth and a shade passing over her face. "You thought there was a man in the case. Well, there was."

Her voice sank as she made this confession, and her eyes strayed away over the water with the faraway expression which had become so familiar. I looked at her silently, desperately curious, as only a woman can be, and yet not caring to put any question.

"Yes," she said softly. "He was the cause of my going away. I loved him too well to stay."

"But why?" I began impetuously, not quite understanding this kind of affection.

"Didn't he care for you?"

"Yes," she said. "That was the reason why I went."

"Was he married?" I asked nervously.

"Yes," she said bitterly. "He was married, and to a vain, selfish, worthless woman, a woman who cared for nothing but the indulgence of her own inordinate vanity. What he suffered through her no one knows better than myself. In six months she ran through all his money, incurred debts which were impossible to pay and altogether made his life a perfect misery. Rose, there never was a greater curse to man than a bad wife."

"That must have been hard for you to bear," I murmured sympathetically.

"But not nearly so hard as for him."

"And do you think he loved you?"

"I am sure of it," she returned. "Do you think my life these two years would have been possible if I had not known? It was that that gave me the courage to go away and to keep away all through those terrible long months."

"And now?" I began anxiously, staying the oars in their motion in the water.

She dabbed her hands in the water before speaking.

"And now," she said, "I am going to see him again."

She saw the look of pained surprise which came upon my face, but did not heed it, and went on talking as if to herself.

"I am going to meet him in the city tomorrow. He will be at the station when my train comes in. I haven't seen him for two whole years—for two whole years."

"Then his wife is dead," I made remark.

"No, she is not. Women of that sort do not die easily."

"But?" I remonstrated.

"There are no 'buts' about it," she cried almost angrily. "We have suffered enough, he and I, and we are going to pretend that the other woman is dead. We are going to forget all the misery of the past. He is going to take life over again. It is the thought of this which has kept me alive these years."

"You are a very foolish girl," I said, with some emotion. "Do you think happiness will come at such a cost? Think over it all again or you will repent it bitterly. You have had courage enough to keep away so long, don't spoil it all now. I am pleading now for his sake and yours."

She shook her head obstinately, and her eyes shone with a light which was truly maddening to me. Knowing her as I did, this weakening change in her character surprised me more than I dared to own. I looked at her silently, and met her glance of odd defiance with a sorrowful thought of what she had been to me for the last two years. Then I found my voice.

But she did not heed entreaties and sat half smiling to herself as she played with the steering ropes.

"We are willing to risk everything," she said. "When two people love each other as he and I do, nothing else counts—nothing else in the world."

"But that other woman," I cried, "she whom he promised to love and honor at the altar?"

She leaned forward and caught my hands in hers and burst into a light and happy laugh.

"You stupid," she said. "I am that other woman. I am his wife. Oh, Rose, to see him once more and to hear him forgive the folly of the past after this lifetime of separation!"—Penny Pictorial Magazine.

THE NEW MR. BOWSER

HE DECIDES TO REFORM AND BEGIN LIFE ANEW

Admits He's a Crank and Asks Mrs. Bowser's Forgiveness, but Owing to a Slight Mistake in the Butcher's Bill He Breaks Out Again.

(Copyright, 1901, by E. R. Lewis.)

When Mr. Bowser left the house for his office the other morning, his bearing was full of laughter and self-contempt, and it needed no word from him to tell Mrs. Bowser that he was "way off." Somewhat to her surprise, however, he returned within a couple of hours, and before she could ask him for an explanation he said:

"I'm not feeling well, and I guess I'll lie down for awhile and take it easy."

He bunked down on the lounge, and she covered him up and he slept for an hour or so, and it was after his nap that he suddenly said:

"Mrs. Bowser, I want to admit that I'm a fool and a crank and a dunder-head."

"I hope your nap has done you good," she replied.

"I'm a fool," he went on as he sat with his head in his hands, "because I smoke too much. Smoke is injurious to me—in fact, it is a deadly poison—and yet I smoke ten or fifteen cigars per day. I've about ruined my nerves and my digestion. You've talked and talked and talked, and the doctors and others have warned me over and over again, but I've kept right on being a fool. The result is a human wreck."

"And now that you realize it you'll smoke less?"

"And now that I realize it I'll never smoke again as long as I am on top of the earth! I have been a dolt, an ass, a fool, but I have got my eyes open at last. Never again shall pipe or cigar pass my lips. Clear me and believe me, for I mean it."

Mrs. Bowser went over to him and patted him on the head, and the family cat looked on and winked to herself.

"I said I was a crank and a dunder-head," observed Mr. Bowser as he ful dignity and waited for him to pass on. "The desire to smoke was like a lobster clawing at his vitals and growing on him every minute, and as he sat there he realized what a fool he had been to swear to give up smoking. In common decency, however, he couldn't go back on his word under twenty-four hours at the least. By and by he got another desire to own up, and he entered the house and said to Mrs. Bowser:

"While I know my own strength and haven't the least doubt of being able to keep to my word, I want to ask a favor of you. If ever I begin to blow around again and find fault with the way you run the house, I wish you would take the carving fork and pin me to the wall. Aim at my heart when you strike."

"You rarely find fault with me," she replied; "so rarely that I have forgotten the last time."

"But I have talked about a divorce a dozen times over."

"But you didn't mean it."

"Well, let me say that you are the best and noblest woman heaven ever gave to earth and that every hour of my future years shall be spent in trying to make you happy."

It could not be doubted that he meant what he said, and yet an hour before dinner he went around the house as if looking for something to find fault with, and once he stopped before the cat and raised his foot in a menacing way. He had little to say during dinner, and as they reached the sitting room he sat down with a great jar and was evidently close to the limit. Mrs. Bowser didn't talk too much, but tried to be very pleasant, and in this way disaster was stayed off for half an hour. All of a sudden Mr. Bowser shook himself and growlingly queried:

"Did the butcher take seventeen cents off the bill last week for the chops he charged by mistake?"

"I—I had forgotten that," she replied, "but of course he will. You know how honest he is."

"Honest? An honest butcher! Don't talk such nonsense to me. The red-headed rascal has beaten us at the rate of fifty dollars a year right along. I told you to call his attention to that mistake at once—at once."

AMUSEMENTS.

"Merry" Katie Emmett will play her big spectacular production "Waifs of New York" here tomorrow night. The company carries a car load of special scenery, and the fire scene with Miss Emmett's escape, the bridge scene with the moving trains, is pronounced by all who have seen it, to be the most realistic piece of mechanism ever produced upon the American stage. Miss Emmett's continued successes have won for her a high place in the esteem of the American theater going public. She is one of the few ladies who have been honored with membership in the B. P. O. Elks and is also a member of 32 unions.

A repetition of her successes should crown the effort of Miss Emmett on this occasion and the public can show their appreciation of humor and pathos that this attraction provided for.

While the title "Across the Desert" might convey the impression that the scenes of the above named play were laid in foreign lands, the management lays great stress upon the statement that it is strictly an American play, written by an American author and produced by an American company. The most prominent among them being Frank James, brother of Jesse James.

The play takes its name from the fact that its principal scenes are located around the great American desert—the plains of Arizona, a location that has given the scenic artist full scope in the way of picturesque color drawing. One scene in particular, "Midnight on the Desert," with full moon effect and stars twinkling above, the gradual approach of a storm which finally bursts forth with all its fury, and which is the dreaded foe of the Southwestern plainsman, and the desert Sand Storm, are said to be some of the most unique stage effects yet given to the public, and to those who witness the above at the Auditorium December 4, certainly will pronounce it a great success.

Maro's program is essentially marvellous, but owing to his remarkable versatility he is able to regale his audience in various ways. For instance, during the musical part he introduces the Javona, a wonderful musical instrument that has been perfected from the Javane. The instrument is made of 154 glittering tubes of steel ranging from two inches to four feet in length. The whole instrument is over five feet long and is played upon by Jaro, Mrs. Maro and two assistants. The tone of the Jovona is a combination of the pipe organ and large orchestra, and has a volume of the largest pipe organ. Besides the Jovona Maro plays upon his original instrument, the one-stringed gonglepep, which is conceded to be, by all who have heard it, the most voluminous toned stringed instrument in the world. Y. M. C. A. December 3.

A DINING CAR EPISODE.

Things Were All Wrong With a Baldheaded Man.

"I had to raise a row back in the dining car," said the baldheaded man as he entered the smoking car looking up to see that he was asked what was wrong. "It's a thing I hate to do, but these corporations should be made to understand that the traveling public has rights."

"Wasn't the dinner all right?" he was asked.

"Not by a long way! I asked the waiter to bring me some fat pork fried rare, and after keeping me waiting for ten minutes he returned to say that quail on toast was the best he could do. I wanted some coffee made from old grounds, with milk instead of cream and brown sugar to sweeten it, and do you know they brought me the finest of Mocha and the whitest of sugar and said I'd have to get along with that or nothing."

"That was hard lines."

"And the eggs," continued the man as he grew hotter—"I always prefer mine about ten days old, but they hadn't an old egg on hand. I've always got along at table with my jack-knife and fingers, but they seemed to think I ought to fool around with a knife and fork and use at least two spoons. I said I didn't care about a tablecloth or a napkin, but they worked 'em in on me, and I had a row with 'em as to whether I should stand up or sit down to eat. They've evidently been having their own sweet way on this line for years past, and it astonished them not a little when I kicked. I'll raise another row with 'em in the morning, and perhaps they'll get it through their heads that they don't run all North America." M. QUAD.

ON TOWER

Tree Had Been Growing for Over Eighteen Years on Church Tower At Utica, N. Y.

(Utica Cor. New York Sun.)

A tree which for over 18 years thrived on the top of the north tower of the Church of the Reconciliation was blown down yesterday afternoon. The tree, which was believed to be of mountain ash, a variety rarely seen in this locality, had been the subject of occasional illustrated magazine articles, and to visitors Uticans have told with pride the origin of the little shrub. It had been one of the curiosities of the city. The church is built of stone and is the only Universalist Church in the city. Its pastor is Rev. J. D. Corby.

About 15 years ago a little shrub was noticed growing from between the many crevices on the top of the tower. In summer it was covered with foliage, and when the little tree matured red berries followed the unfolding of the leaves. Large quantities of dirt had been deposited by storms between the cracks. The rain kept the accumulation moistened and the tree prospered until it reached a height of about five feet. The tower was covered with the tree's branches. The roots extended through the crevices until the church elders feared that it would disturb the masonry and force the stones out of position. Some wanted the tree removed, but the church members had become attached to the odd sight and all attempts to remove it were overruled.

Two years ago the water began to leak through the tower and the stones were covered with tin. It was then that the tree began to decline. The dirt in the cracks did not furnish the tree with nourishment because the tin roof prevented the rain from reaching the roots. The tree declined and last summer it had scarcely any foliage. During the storm yesterday the tree was uprooted, the tin roof torn away and the tree toppled over into Seneca street, 60 feet below. It is generally believed that some bird dropped the mountain ash berry while on the tower. The passing of the tree will be noted in the church records.

CHINA'S INDEMNITY

NOW A TAX ON ALL CELESTIALS IS PROPOSED.

China Resorting to Strong Arm Methods—Peking Awaits Arrival of the Court.

Peking, Dec. 2.—Prince Ching has informed the ministers of the foreign powers that, owing to the fatigue of the dowager empress resulting from her travels, the last stage of the imperial court's journey has been postponed for one week. Great preparations are being made here for the reception of the royal party. All the palaces and temples have been repainted and regilded. The foreign residents of Peking have never seen these buildings look so imposing as now. Upon the day of the reception of the court the route followed by the royal cortege will be lined with Manchurian banner men and elaborate ceremonies will be observed. The condition of Peking has changed immensely and good discipline is maintained among the European troops stationed here.

Chinese officials are resorting to all kinds of means to raise money to assist in paying the indemnity agreed on by the powers. Besides a gigantic scheme, in which more than $100,000,000 are involved, half of which will go into the indemnity fund and half be given away in prizes, and which scheme has received the sanction of the court, it is now proposed by Prince Ching to impose a head tax on all Chinese, whether residing within the limits of the empire or in foreign countries. Prince Ching's plan, as submitted to the court, is to send commissioners to all foreign countries, to collect the tax from Chinese residents, claiming that as they do not become citizens of other countries they should assist in paying the indemnity. Prince Ching's plan has created considerable dissatisfaction in the southern provinces of the Chinese empire, and is liable to result in serious disturbances. It is claimed that residents of the northern provinces were alone responsible for the Boxer movement, and that they should be called upon to bear any expense caused by their action.

China Bracing Up.

Peking, Dec. 2.—Chinese officials have severely punished all offenses against foreigners. This has had a salutary effect upon the demeanor of the people. The higher Chinese officials now manifest an increased desire to cultivate personal relations with the diplomatic corps. The settlement of claims between the local officials and the missionaries not included in the general indemnity has been arranged. Payments on these claims amount to 5,000,000 taels. In an edict the dowager empress has authorized the instruction of foreign sciences in Chinese schools.

Anti-British Resolutions.

Detroit, Dec. 2.—Four thousand Boer sympathizers attended a meeting held in Light Guard armory under the auspices of the local Transvaal league, and applauded the anti-British sentiments of Commandant Jan Krige, who served under General Botha, and ex-Congressman Lentz of Ohio. Resolutions denouncing the policy of this government in allowing the exportation of horses and mules to the British in South Africa; denouncing the detention in reconcentrated camps of Boer women and children and extending sympathy to the Boers in the field were unanimously adopted, and will be sent to President Roosevelt, with the request that he offer the friendly mediation of this country to the combatants. Commandant Krige said: "As surely as the South African war killed the great old queen, just so surely will the South African war sound the death knell of the British empire."

Shot His Father.

Greenfield, Ind., Dec. 2.—Robert Glascock, 70, a prominent farmer living near Greenfield, was shot and probably fatally wounded by his 17-year-old boy. The boy was arrested and lodged in jail at this place. He claims his father came home, intoxicated and began abusing him and other members of the family, and after the father had struck him with a broomstick he fired at him, intending to frighten him off, as he had done on other occasions when his father had assaulted him. The bullet entered the aged parent's right lung, and physicians have but slight hope of recovery. The accused boy is grief-stricken over the affair.

Goodwin's Observation.

London, Dec. 2.—Nat Goodwin addressed the "Playgoers' club" on the matter of the American invasion of the English stage. He said he believed there would never be a theatrical war with Great Britain, where fair play and kindness were extended to Americans. The only difference between the American invasion of Great Britain and the British invasion of the United States was that the English actors made money while the Americans often lost it.

Boers Irrepressible.

London, Dec. 2.—A dispatch from Pretoria gives indication why, with continuous captures, the Boer forces do not seem to diminish. The dispatch says the Boers are constantly escaping from the concentration camps and towns to rejoin the fighting forces, and that measures will have to be taken to stop this leakage. The Boers in the towns are still irreconcilable, says the dispatch, and believe their cause will eventually triumph.

MEXICAN

Dollars Causing Considerable Trouble in Philippine Islands—6 to 8 per Cent for Exchange.

Manilla, Dec. 2.—Considerable alarm is being caused by the financial situation in the islands. Henry C. Ide, chief of the department of finance and justice, referred to the probable enforcement of an alteration in the immediate future of the present government parity of two Mexican dollars for one gold dollar. The United States postoffice here now refuses, except to government employees, to issue money orders in exchange for Mexican silver. The banks of Manilla have been making from 6 to 8 per cent on exchange. Merchants and others are forced to carry their accounts in Mexican silver. The commercial community has relied upon the United States Philippine commission to continue the situation of two Mexican dollars for one gold dollar, which the commission itself created. The commission is unable to act in the matter without authority of congress. This authorization has been requested. Charles A. Conant, special commissioner of the war department to investigate the state of coinage and banking in the Philippines and report to the secretary of war recommendations for remedial legislation, who is now in Washington, was the bearer of the commission's views on this matter.

Victims of Frisco Collision.

San Francisco, Dec. 2.—So far as can now be determined only three lives were lost in the collision between the ferry boats San Rafael and Sausalito. Those drowned were W. G. Crandall, secretary of the Long syrup works; George Tredway, a waiter on the San Rafael, and a 2-year-old son of Mrs. Walter of Ross Valley. The body of Crandall washed ashore at Angel Island. In the panic that followed the collision about 20 passengers were more or less injured. Many were cut when crawling through the cabin windows. The accident was due to a fog. At least 200 people were on the San Rafael. After the boats struck the Sausalito was brought up alongside the sinking San Rafael. It was 15 minutes at least before the latter vessel went down. This gave ample time to transfer the most of the passengers.

University Extension Work.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—Professor Edmund J. James of the University of Chicago has devised a new form of university extension work, which consists in a co-operation or combination of distinguished specialists from several different universities for the purpose of presenting the salient facts of their respective sciences by combined effort. This undertaking is in the line of recent trend developments in every department of modern life. The first experiment in this field will be a course of lectures on modern social and economic problems by a number of men who are eminent authorities in various universities. The cities selected for the first experiment are Milwaukee, Columbus, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Detroit and Indianapolis.

Claims Self-Defense.

Detroit, Dec. 2.—Detective Palma of the local force had a long interview with Philip Tocco, who is under arrest here, being held for the Springfield, Ills. officers, where he is wanted for murdering his friend, Giuseppe Noto. To Detective Palma, Tocco admitted that he murdered Noto, but said he did it in self-defense, because he had quarreled with Noto about a small sum of money and Noto had threatened to kill him. Detective Palma says he does not believe Tocco is intelligent enough to be at the head of a Mafia plot. Tocco denied to Detective Palma that he was a member of the Mafia, but when first arrested he said he was a member of the society.

In Behalf of Mrs. Maybrick.

Cleveland, Dec. 2.—Former Canadian residents in American cities are again active in their efforts to have Mrs. Florence Maybrick released from her English prison. A petition is being drawn up by a Cleveland lawyer and copies of it will be sent among the cities bordering on the Great Lakes. Copies will also be sent to the mayors of Montreal and Toronto. The petition will finally go to the king of England and the English premier. The present is considered opportune for an appeal to his majesty for clemency by the Canadians because of the gallant work of Canadian soldiers during the Boer war.

Valley Forge a National Park.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Early in the coming week Senator Penrose and Representative Wanger of Pennsylvania will introduce bills for the acquisition of Valley Forge and its incorporation into a national park as a memorial of one of the most historical places of revolutionary days. The measures will be practically the same as those introduced in the senate and house respectively last year, and will provide for an appropriation of $200,000 for park purposes. The project has the earnest endorsement of 27 patriotic associations.

Permanent Irish Building.

St. Louis, Dec. 2.—The work of the Irish National World's Fair association, recently organized, will be far-reaching. The chief object is to erect a permanent Irish building on the world's fair grounds, in which will be displayed during the exposition the manufactures, arts and sciences of Ireland. After the fair it will be utilized as a museum of the art, literature and antiquities of Ireland.

HE KILLED THE CASE

FATAL EFFECT OF BROTHER SPEARS' MUSICAL TESTIMONY.

After the Jury Heard It They Acquitted the Naughty Children Who Laughed in Church and Disturbed the Religious Assemblage.

A well known lawyer of Lancaster, Mo., related the following legal incident: One of the most original lawyers I ever met in my life was Sam Dysart, who many years ago was a resident of our country. Sam was a born humorist and could have made his fortune in the lecture field. When he lived up our way, he was engaged on one occasion to defend a lot of boys and girls charged with disturbing a religious assemblage out in the country. "Laughing and giggling" is the way the information read. The case was tried before Squire A. C. Bailey, a good old man who has long since gone to his final reward. Like all cases of the sort, it attracted an immense crowd from the vicinity of the alleged outrage.

T. C. Tadlock prosecuted, and he was instructed by the church people to spare no pains to convict the disturbers, who were very much frightened by being dragged into court. All the defendants were children of good families, and it was their first offense. They candidly admitted they laughed out in church, and the state insisted that by their own mouths they were condemned.

Brother Tice Spears, a righteous man of Puritanic type, was the main prosecuting witness. He had conducted the service, and he testified that the peace was sadly disturbed by the unseemly behavior of the "rioters." After he told his story in chief he sat down with clasped hands, waiting for the defendants' attorney to begin on him. He didn't have long to wait. The examination began like this:

"Brother Spears, you led the meeting that night?"

"I did, sir."

"You prayed?"

"I did, sir."

"And preached?"

"I tried to."

"And sang?"

"I sang."

"What did you sing?"

"There Is a Fountain Filled With Blood," sir."

Here Mr. Dysart pulled a hymnbook from his pocket and handed it to the witness with the remark:

"Please turn to that song, Brother Spears."

The witness did so.

"That's what you sang that night?"

"It is, sir."

"Well, stand up and sing it now, if you please."

"What?"

"You heard what I said, Brother Spears."

"But I can't sing before this sort of crowd."

"Brother Spears," with much apparent indignation, "do I understand that you refuse to furnish legitimate evidence to this jury?"

"No, no—but, you see—"

"Your honor," said Mr. Dysart, "I insist that the witness shall sing the song referred to just as he did on the night of alleged disturbance. It is a part of our evidence and very important. The reason for it will be disclosed later on."

There was a long jangle between the lawyers, and the court finally ordered the witness to get up and sing.

"And mind you, Brother Spears," said Dysart seriously, "you must sing it just as you did that night. If you change a note, you will have to go back and do it all over again."

The witness got up and opened the book. There is a vast difference between singing to a congregation in sympathy with you and a crowd of courtroom habitués. Brother Spears was painfully conscious of the fact. You know how these old time hymns are sung in the backwoods settlements? You begin in the basement and work up to the roof and then leap off from the dizzy height and finally finish the line in the basement.

That's the way the witness did. He had a good voice—that is, it was strong. If Gabriel's trumpet ever gets out of whack he could trumpet that voice and wake the dead just as readily. It seemed to threaten the window lights. The crowd didn't smile, it just yelled with laughter. The jury men bent double and almost rolled from their seats. The court bit his corncob pipe harder and looked solemn. It wasn't any use. There were only two straight faces in the house. One belonged to a deaf man and the other to Sam Dysart. The singer finished and sat down. He looked tired. Sam immediately excused him.

When the time for speechmaking came Sam remarked to the jury: "If you gentlemen think you could go to one of Brother Spears' meetings and behave better than you have here, why you may be justified in convicting these boys and girls."

That was all he said, but it gave the jury lots to think about. They brought in a verdict of not guilty, with the request that Brother Spears sing another song. But that gentleman had gone home and court adjourned.—Macon Republican.

FAMILY DOG

Upset the Lamp and Five Persons Were Burned to Death at George Station, Pa.

Altoona, Pa., Dec. 2.—The upsetting of a lamp, probably by the family dog, caused the death of five persons at George Station, near here. The victims: Mrs. Mary C. Burk and her four children, Adam, 16, Mary, 13, Joanna, 11, and Joseph Victor, 8. Carl Burk, the husband, was badly burned.

Mrs. Burk was awakened by a dense smoke in her room. She awoke her husband, who found the kitchen all ablaze. Burk's clothing was ignited, but he rolled in the snow to extinguish the flames. He then summoned the assistance of neighbors, but when they arrived there was no hope of saving the house or rescuing the inmates. Burk was sent away to a hospital crazed with grief. The house was soon consumed and the bodies, charred and blackened, were recovered. One corpse could not be distinguished from the other. The lamp was left burning in the kitchen for the boy Adam.

Workmen Honor Buller.

London, Dec. 2.—Workmen turned out in large numbers Sunday to do honor to General Buller. A monster parade was the feature of the day.

When Hyde park was reached it was almost dark. Here speeches from several platforms, representing England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, Devonshire and the colonies were made. The confusion was so great as to render the words of the speakers almost inaudible, but amid a roar of cheers a resolution of sympathy for General Buller was proposed and adopted with great enthusiasm and a wild waving of handkerchiefs and hats. Features of the demonstration were the passing of collection boxes for a workmen's memorial to General Buller and the large sale of buttonhole portraits and favors of the general.

Chinese "Aroused."

Pittsburg, Dec. 2.—Chinamen of Pittsburg and surrounding towns will make every effort to prevent the reenactment at the next session of congress of the Chinese exclusion act. Quo Wong Lee of San Francisco, a representative of the Six Companies, who has been in the city several days, presided at a meeting which was attended by over 400 Chinamen. After the meeting a leading Chinaman said his countrymen in this district will contribute $20,000 to the cause. In about two days meetings will be held all over the district by Six Companies' representatives, with the object of having every Chinaman contribute $50 to the fund.

Technical Schools and Trades Unions.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—Manual training and technical schools were described by speakers at a meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor as the gravest existing menace to industrial unions. Urgent need was pointed out for the organization of labor leagues among the pupils at those institutions. It was asserted that the Chicago Telephone company, in fighting the strikers, had found an "apparently inexhaustible supply of 'nonunion workmen' among the graduates of the schools maintained, either wholly or in part, by the public.

Turkish Outrages.

Constantinople, Dec. 2.—Official reports received here from Mush are to the effect that Andranik, a leader of Armenian bandits, has again occupied an Armenian monastery in the neighborhood of Mush, where he and his forces are surrounded for a second time by Turkish troops. Fresh Turkish outrages on Armenians are reported from the Mush, Sassun and Bitlis districts.

Advised to Fight.

London, Dec. 2.—John Dillon, M. P., addressing an Irish league demonstration at Lough Rea, counseled evicted tenants to take back their farms by storm and fight and suffer if necessary. He said the league funds would be given to assist those who showed a soldier's spirit.

ELKS

MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD HERE SUNDAY EVENING.

Splendid Address Delivered by Judge R. M. Voorhees—Fine Musical Program Carried Out.

The memorial services held on Sunday evening in the rooms of Newark Lodge, 191, E. P. O. E., were very impressive and a large number of the relatives and friends of the members of the lodge.

The opening exercises were conducted by Exalted Ruler W. D. Fulton, and were followed by prayer by Rev. J. C. Schindel.

A quartette consisting of Mrs. C. W. Miller, Mrs. Annis Lawhead, Messrs. Warren Weiant and F. G. Warden, sang impressively, "Lead Kindly Light," after which Bro. Geo. Miller recited that very beautiful, and on this occasion, appropriate poem by Bryant, "Thanatopsis."

The memorial address was delivered by Judge R. M. Voorhees of Coshocton and was indeed a masterpiece. He described beautifully the principles of the order of Elks, Fidelity, Justice, Brotherly Love and Charity, and urged the members of the order, as well as those within the sound of his voice to so live that all might see in them the incarnation of these cardinal virtues. He spoke feelingly of the absent brothers, D. A. Allen, John Schlegel and C. W. Green. "Let their faults be written on the sands while we inscribe their virtues on the enduring tablets of our memories."

Miss Lettie Felix played two selections very artistically and with Miss Pearl Bournier shared the praise for skillful accompanying.

The following program was carried out:

HOSPITAL

Course of Entertainments for the Season—How Many Tickets Do You Want?

The Hospital ladies have secured an array of talent for the entertainment of the Newark people that simply astounds. In fact no city in the state brings so many big things at once, and the ladies hope to wipe out the debt of the hospital. Just look at the list of great artists that will be heard for $1.

Hildegard Hoffman, New York City's great soprano. She alone is a big attraction for any city in the United States.

Kathryn McGucken, Philadelphia's greatest contralto and soloist in the cathedral.

E. Elsworth Giles, said by many to be the finest tenor in the east, shared honors with Blavet in the Maine festivals and outsang his reputation.

Edward Brigham, New York City's bass profundo, and sings bass for the Mozart Club of Pittsburg in December in their production of the Messiah at $150 for one performance.

Reahard, the piano soloist, of Pittsburg, will accompany these four great artists.

Ernest Gamble, America's popular basso.

Frederick Morley, the Australian pianist, first season in America, arriving October 1st, after spending three years with the great Leschetiski.

Grace Jenkins, the violinist, now two years with the Ernest Gamble company, three years a pupil in Berlin.

The Persian Garden company, with Miss Rachel Freese soprano—an Ohio singer who has come to the front faster than any soprano in this country for years past.

Miss Winifred Reahard, contralto; Sam T. Beddoe, tenor; Daniel T. Moore, basso, and Julia T. Parks, pianist.

The hospital association agree to furnish all the above named artists on three different periods of time, commencing after the Holidays, for the almost nameless price of $1.

And to make a big financial success for the hospital the board of managers want 1,000 tickets subscribed before next Saturday night. Do not wait to be solicited. Send a postal card by first mail with the number of tickets desired, to any member of the board.

AWFUL ULCERS

Facial Sores and Blotches
a Sign of Blood Disease.

Such Troubles
Cured by Vinol.

The face that is blotched or covered with unsightly pimples is not only a source of mortification and annoyance but is dangerous.

Where such a condition exists there must be something radically wrong. When such eruptions become worse and give place to ulcers the danger is, of course, enhanced. Ulcers frequently form first on any of the great vital organs, especially the stomach.

Won't you, if you suffer from any such blood impurities give us the opportunity of telling you how you can get rid of such ills safely and quickly. Our Vinol will help you.

This, we firmly believe, and the reason for our belief is that we have learned that Vinol in its mission of rebuilding the body and creating strength does as much in the way of purifying the blood as it does in creating new, healthy flesh tissue. In making the body strong and healthy it invigorates everyone of the great vital organs and enables them to properly perform their work.

Impurities of the blood are thus more quickly displaced by new health elements that are taken by the stomach from the food which by means of Vinol is fully assimilated.

"I wish to say a few words in praise of Vinol. For over a year I was severely troubled with ulcerated stomach which caused me much pain; for three months I could not eat any solid food. I became weak, tired and all run down and lost much flesh. Hearing of the great merit of Vinol, I bought a bottle, and after giving it a good trial, I feel better in every way, and must give all the praise to Vinol." MARY E. BRYANT, 21 Prescott Street, Mansfield, Ohio.

Remember our faith in Vinol is so strong that we sell it on a guarantee and will gladly refund to anyone the cost of the remedy who is not satisfied with the results obtained by its use.

Shopping in Athens. In his volume on "Modern Athens," George Horton says that shopping in the Greek capital is a more elaborate, time consuming and minute process even than with us. "The oriental method of doing business still prevails. The dealer sets a price, the buyer another, and often three or four hours of patient will contest pass before a compromise is reached. The patron asks, 'How much is this piece of silk?' 'One dollar a yard,' is the reply. 'Thirty cents' is offered. The merchant is thrown into something resembling an apopleptic fit. He swears by his father's soul that it cost 95 cents.

"The lady takes a seat with a sigh and after twenty minutes inquires innocently, 'Finally, 30 cents?' 'Never! But to keep you and not lose your custom, you may have it for what I paid, 95 cents.' 'You poor thing!' sighs the lady sarcastically. 'There are a dozen or more women sitting about the store. When finally the proprietor comes down to a price that one is willing to pay, she rises, receives her bundle and departs, declaring good naturedly that she had been swindled and that she will never come back again.'

A Question of Ownership. "Are you the man who advertises 'Own your own home?'" said the dejected looking caller.

"I am," answered the real estate dealer.

"Well, I'd like to get the recipe."

"The recipe? The modus operandi. I want to know what to do to own my own home. Our cook has a temper like a raging lion and muscles like Hercules. If you can, tell me how to dispose her. Money's no object."

People Who Used to Eat Spiders. The enjoyment of particular kinds of food is, after all, a matter of custom, and the African who revels in white ants is no more peculiar in his tastes than the European who eats cheese mites. A lady whom M. Reaumur knew was accustomed to devour spiders as fast as she could catch them, and a German lady gave it as her opinion that these creatures resembled in taste the most delicious nuts. A fellow countryman of this lady was in the habit of regularly hunting spiders in his own and his friends' houses. He used to spread them on bread, Ritz tells us, and vowed that they were far pleasanter to the palate than butter.—Cornhill Magazine.

Who He Was. "Wait a minute, John. Don't read so fast. Who was it that there crowd turned out?"

"Eh? Turned out?"

"Yes; you read it there that the crowd turned out. N. Mass. Who was N. Mass?"

"Why, I suppose he's some Frenchman. You ought to listen closer."

He Could Cook. "Can he cook?" asked the proprietor of the restaurant.

"Cook?" echoed the caller, who was rooting for a friend out of a job. "Can he cook? Say, I've seen that man make four squabs piece of one old pigeon!"

THE MAJOR'S LATEST

HOW THE GRAND PROMOTER SILENCED A CREDITOR.

Tries to Jolly Him Along by Getting Him Interested in the Catnip Trust, but He Is Equal to the Occasion and Refuses to Compromise.

[Copyright, 1901, by C. L. Jewell.]

Major Crofoot had said "Come in!" in response to a knock on his office door, and as he turned from his desk and recognized a man from whom he had effected a loan a year before his face fell for an instant. Then it brightened again, and, rising and holding out both hands, he exclaimed:

"By George, but I'm glad to see you! It's a curious coincidence that I had just sat down to write a letter to your old address. Well, well, sit down and have a cigar."

"The man sat down, but as no cigar was offered him he didn't have one. He had no smile on his face. He looked like a man who had found a dodging creditor after months of search and intended to collect or proceed to extremes. The major sized things up that way and took the bull by the horns at once by leading off with:

"Johnston, I want to express my heartfelt gratitude to you the first thing. You did a thing for me that I can never, never forget."

"Yes; I lent you ten dollars," grimly replied Mr. Johnston.

"You did. I was hard up, discouraged and almost ready to commit suicide when you stepped in and made life worth the living again. That ten dollars brought me luck. I am ashamed that I have been too busy to hunt you up and repay it, but it is all right at last."

"Yes; you'll pay it now or I'll break your neck."

"The delay is all in your favor, however," cheerfully continued the major. "Had you dropped in at any time within the last six months I should have given you a check for five hundred dollars and expressed my everlasting gratitude, but today I can do better than that—far better. As you sit there you may look upon yourself as a rich man."

"I'd rather look upon my ten dollars," quietly replied the caller.

"Yes; I will prove to you that at least one man in this selfish world knows what gratitude means. I have been working for the last four weeks to complete the organization of the catnip trust and just got things ready last night—capital five million dollars and all paid in—and today, Mr. Johnston, the trust controls every stalk of catnip in the civilized world. Next week the price will be advanced 50 per cent and a month later 50 more. Of course you know all about catnip?"

"I had me over my ten?" replied Mr. Johnston as he extended his hand and looked at the major with ice in his eyes.

"Catnip is used for various purposes," continued the major, "and no known substitute for it has ever been discovered. Cats must have it or perish. Babies with colic must have it or suffer on. A catnip poultice will cure a hundred different aches; only certain cure for insomnia, and will surely prevent somnambulism. I think you follow me—I think you do."

"If I don't now, I will in about five minutes," replied Mr. Johnston.

"We have figured it down five, down to a dollar, and the profit on the first year's deal is four million two hundred and eighty-eight thousand three hundred and twenty-one dollars. After that it will increase by two or three millions. Our stock will pay a dividend of 100 per cent from the first day. There's the trust, my dear man, and there's the sure profits, and now as to your case. On a certain occasion you showed your confidence in my financial integrity."

"No, I didn't. You lied to me!"

"When others refused to stretch out a hand to save me, you extended yours with a ten dollar bill in it. You believed in me and wanted to give me a show. If I were like some men, I should now draw you a check for ten dollars and close the deal."

"That's what I want you to do."

"But I am no ingrate, Mr. Johnston. My heart is overflowing with gratitude, and instead of the paltry ten dollars you get twenty thousand dollars—that is, I make you first vice president of the worldwide catnip trust, with a salary of twenty thousand dollars a year. That is only the first step, however—the first payment. Next year—"

Mr. Johnston rose up with his jaws set.

"Next year your salary will be advanced to twenty-five thousand dollars, and inside of ten years you will be rolling in wealth. Sit down till I explain your duties."

"Have you got than ten for me?" was asked.

"That ten—that paltry ten!" exclaimed

ed the major with simulated indignation. "Why, man, do you think I'd insult you? In place of the ten I'm giving you—"

"Taffy and wind!" finished Mr. Johnston. "I came after that ten, and I'll have it or have a row. To pot with your old catnip trust!"

"My dear old friend, do I hear aright? Do you prefer ten dollars to twenty thousand?"

"I do, and I want it quick!"

"You won't let me prove my gratitude?"

"You haven't any to prove. You lied to me to get the money, and you've been dodging me ever since. Don't try no more tricks on me."

"Very well, Mr. Johnston—very well," said the major as he turned to his hat. "As I used up my last check yesterday I'll run over to the bank and get the money. I wanted to prove to you—"

"You needn't try to prove anything."

"Very well, again. Can I ask you to mind the office while I step out?"

"You can, and if you come back without my money I'll take it out of your hide."

The major put on his hat, seemed to wipe a tear from his eye and slowly left the office, while Mr. Johnston changed to the only chair with four good legs under it and sat waiting with a smile on his face. Half an hour went by, and he began to look a little anxious; an hour passed, and he walked up and down; two hours fled, and he realized that he was sold out. Then he went silently down stairs, planning to come again on the morrow, and when the morning came he was there. The major's office door stood wide open, and on it was a sign of "To Rent Cheap." The grand promoter had taken a skate.

Willing Enough. "Dear sir," the coal dealer read the message aloud, "please send a ton of stove coal to my house at once with bill."

MILLER CASE

SET DOWN FOR TRIAL BEGINNING JANUARY 6TH.

Several Lawyers are in the Case Which Was Up in Probate Court Monday Morning.

The case of Dr. D. H. Miller, who was charged with failing to report that his wife, was suffering with smallpox, was called in the Probate Court Monday morning. Prosecuting Attorney T. W. Philipps appeared on behalf of the State, Solicitor P. B. Smythe for the Board of Health, Carl Norpell for the Board of Trade and Judge S. M. Hunter, S. L. James and Fred M. Black for the defendant. Application was made to require security for costs, which was opposed by Mr. Smythe on the ground that the statutes made it the duty of the Board of Health to bring such prosecution and that a public officer or Board could not be required to give security for the costs of doing the duty required by law. After argument the motion was overruled.

The defendant Dr. Miller then made application for a continuance. The attorneys for the prosecution stated that they intended to subpoena Mrs. Miller for the purpose of showing the evidence of small pox still apparent on her face and hands, and did not want the case continued until such would have disappeared. An order was then made that she be visited by two doctors. The parties could not agree on the doctors to make the examination, and the order, at the suggestion of the prosecution, was withdrawn, and a jury was then demanded and the time set for January 6.

CHARLES DALY

WHO WON SATURDAY'S GAME FOR WEST POINT

Though a Harvard Graduate, Daly is Going Through West Point—Brilliant Work as a Player.

There was much local interest Saturday evening in the result of the army and navy football game played at Philadelphia that afternoon. As telegraphed to the Advocate the first half ended 5 to 5 but in the second half the West Pointers (rather the West Pointers, for it was Daly who won the game) scored six more for the army side and the Middies were defeated. President Roosevelt and several cabinet officers were enthusiastic witnesses of the game.

Charles Daly, star and field general, leader of the West Point foot ball team, has, by his individual efforts, carried the army eleven through the greatest season it has ever known. Barely defeated by Harvard, accomplishing a tie game with Yale, scoring a touchdown and earning a tie with Princeton, and defeating Pennsylvania by 24 to 0, the West Point team owes much of its glory to Daly, who figured in nearly every score in the hard games. With such a leader and so splendid a team, West Point was expected to easily defeat the naval cadets. The game was unexpectedly close, but Daly decided it. The man who has kept his head in many a hard fought battle for Harvard, who knows every trick of football and without doubt is one of the greatest players known to the gridiron, decided the game for the army men. At Harvard in 1898, 1899 and 1900 Daly was a star. He is a small man, but his generalship, quickness, speed in carrying the ball and blocking gave him the place position of quarter back on the All-American elevens of 1898 and 1899. He lost the position in 1900, the year he captained Harvard, partly through an injury, which affected his playing, and partly through the defeat given Harvard by Yale's championship team of last year. As a quarter back no player can be placed higher than Daly. As a field general, he ranks fully as high. Daly is a "plebe" at West Point, but he is not subject to the treatment accorded to a "plebe." He is the most popular first year man who ever entered the army academy. If Daly were only a good football player, his pluck, nerve and coolness would certainly stand as a strong recommendation for a post of honor when he leaves West Point. But he more than an athlete. He graduated from Harvard with great credit to himself, and is counted one of the brightest students in the academy at West Point. Although many fields were open to Daly when he left Harvard, he chose the army, and obtained an appointment to West Point. In so doing he is one of the very few university graduates who have become army cadets.

Eczema for Forty Years.

The Unqualified Statement of a Well Known Attorney, St. Ignace, Mich.

Some of the cures made by Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment of stubborn and long continued eczema and skin diseases are causing much comment.

People are beginning to realize that this Ointment is a wonderworker with all kinds of skin trouble. Attorney James J. Brown, St. Ignace, Michigan, writes as follows:
Dr. A. W. Chase, Med. Co. Buffalo, N. Y.—Gents, I cannot refrain from expressing my acknowledgment for the relief I have felt from Dr. Chase's Ointment. For 40 years I was afflicted with a skin disease which was located in one spot—on my leg. I have spent at a rough estimate five hundred dollars trying to effect a cure, and not until I applied this ointment did I get relief. You are strangers to me and this letter is prompted directly because I want to say and I feel as though I ought to say it. That Chase's ointment has effected a complete cure of my affliction. Three boxes did the work on my leg. I was also suffering from itching piles and applied the ointment which gave the best of satisfaction by affording me rest at night and rapidly causing the disease to disappear. I have received such relief and comfort from the ointment that I cannot withhold expressing my gratitude. I was so long afflicted with the tortures of eczema, I feel now that I am cured, a word of recommendation is due from me. Yours truly,
JAMES J. BROWN.

THE BLAME

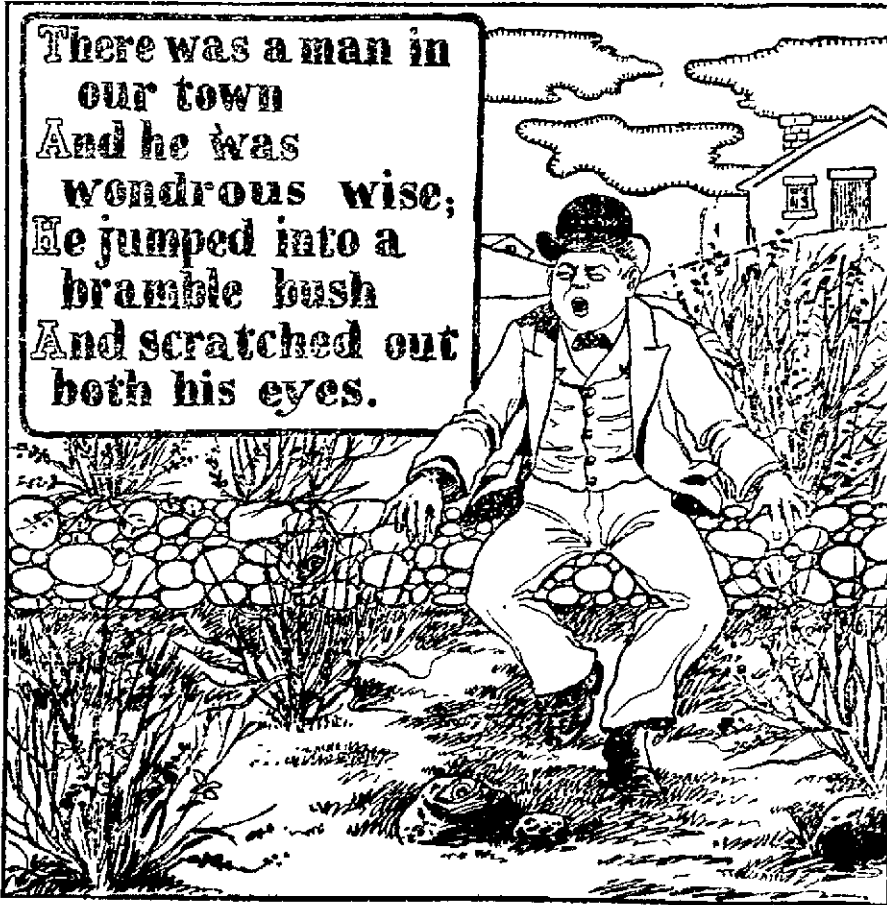

Colon Liberals are Discussing the Cause of Their Recent Defeat and Placing Blame.

Colon, Dec. 2.—Both Liberals and Conservatives are gradually resuming their customary intercourse and fraternizing the one with the other. There is no undue boasting on the part of the victors nor ill concealed hatred on the part of those who sympathize with the vanquished. Consequently there have been no disturbances nor unseemly behavior. Recent events, however, are the only topic of conversation. Many Liberals allege that all blame for the final turn of events is primarily due to Belizario Porras, who is also said to be responsible for the blow sustained by the Liberal cause last year. Porras, it is generally known, caused a split in the Liberal headquarters at Chorrera over a question of precedence and seniority of rank between himself and General Domingo Diaz. Porras refused to recognize the authority of General Diaz as civil and military chief of the Liberal army. He subsequently effected the withdrawal of many men with their arms to certain mountain fastnesses in another direction, where they are still supposed to be.

New Transcontinental Line.
Denver, Dec. 2.—Senator William A. Clark of Montana and Thomas F. Walsh of Colorado have it rumored. Joined issues in railroad construction and will build practically a new transcontinental railroad. The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific is also said to be in the Clarke-Walsh deal. The new transcontinental line would give Senator Clark an outlet for his Los Angeles and Salt Lake City road, which has been left without one through the absorption of two Colorado mountain lines by George Gould. The Rock Island would get a new and short route to California.

Cod Liver Oil

and What It Does

Hagee's Cordial of Cod Liver Oil (with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda) is based on the learning of famous medical men. They discovered that the grease in cod liver oil is only a temporary preservative of its invaluable restorative and reconstructive properties—not necessary to the cure.

By a scientific method devised from this knowledge, known and practiced exclusively in our laboratory, the grease is extracted from cod liver oil leaving only the remedial elements, to which is added a cordial pleasant to taste and smell, making Hagee's Cordial acceptable to the most delicate stomach.

By its revitalizing, reconstructive, corrective principles it cures la grippe, coughs, colds, weak lungs, bronchitis, consumption, catarrhal conditions, nervousness, sleeplessness, indigestion, dyspepsia, mal-assimilation, rheumatism, skin diseases, pimples, blotches, weakened condition following fevers, impoverishment of the blood, and creates more and better flesh. The cure begins with the first doses—quick relief—and permanent results are realized day by day—prevents further disorder by maintaining perfect condition.

Alliance, O., Dec. 2.—Three desperadoes gave a display of wild west tactics here. They entered two houses, held up the inmates, held up seven persons on the street and finally stole a horse and buggy, with which they made their escape. The home of Mrs. Margaret Teeters was the first entered, where she and her son Carl were robbed of their jewelry and $20. While one of the three men guarded the Teeters home two others entered the home of ex-Senator Silas J. Williams next door, but got nothing. They next tried to enter a saloon, but were chased off. Wayne, Ind. When arraigned before Squire Priddy both pleaded guilty. Painter confessed that he was a professional burglar when he was elected marshal.	Spoken of as Possible Colonel of the Fourth Regiment if, Potter Should Resign. (Columbus Dispatch.) Since there has been a rumor that Colonel Potter of the Fourth Ohio National Guard regiment, might possibly resign, a number of names have been suggested for a possible successor. Among them are the three majors, White, Titus and Blizzard of Newark. Colonel George B. Donavin, of the governor's staff, and Captain Mac Lee Wilson, formerly with the Fourth Ohio Volunteer infantry, of which command he was the adjutant. Colonel Donavin was captain and quartermaster of the same command and both have hundreds of friends. Major White served with the Fourth as captain during the Spanish-American war and Major Titus was also with the regiment. ERNEST T. JOHNSON,
DRUGGIST,

IN THE BARN

On an Estate That Was Once His a Farmer Millionaire is Living. He Was Arrested.

(New York Journal.) Old Robert Johnson, last survivor of the three Johnson brothers, who were millionaire dry goods merchants of Broadway 15 years ago, was arrested yesterday for breaking down the fence between the big estate that used to be his, at Mt. St. Vincent-on-the-Hudson, and the railroad station. Twelve years ago Robert A. Johnson was worth $2,000,000. Now he is living in one room in the barn of the old estate, cooking his own meals, washing his own linen and mending his own clothes.

Even this poor lodging is his only by courtesy of the surety company that owns it.

Where his money went nobody knows, but two years ago Robert A. Johnson filed a petition in bankruptcy showing $55,000 of debts and no assets. Included in the debts were grocery bills and servants' wages.

He broke down the railroad's fence it is charged, in order to make a short cut to the station. He had compelled the building of the fence long ago, because his cow had been killed by the train.

A dozen years ago Robert A. Johnson paid $50,000 for several acres of land along Cuthbert lane, and built thereon a stone mansion, which he filled with paintings and statuary, and in which he lived in stately seclusion. Within 10 years the house had passed from his possession, but the trust company that had bought it on the foreclosure of the mortgage allowed him to continue to live in it. One day a prospective tenant, who thought to turn the beautiful place into a boarding house, looked through the mansion, but the profanation of the palace was prevented by a fire four days later, which reduced it to ruins. There was $50,000 insurance on the objects of art, particularly three famous statues, "Coopatra," "The Greek Slave," and "The Child's Prayer." The insurance companies refused to pay, denying that the statues had been destroyed, but the valuers' reports were found in the debris.

Then Johnson went to live in the barn.

Findlay—Benjamin Ede, aged 16, was caught by the shafting in the Bell Pottery last night. His clothes were whisked off to the skin and his left leg broken.

Findlay—Calvin Gordon, a twelve-year-old boy, was arrested on the charge of drunkenness. He found a quart of whiskey, took it to a vacant lot, and drank it all. He is in a precarious condition.

Wooster—Fire of an incendiary origin consumed the warehouses owned by Cyrus Smith, Bert Mackey and John H. Kane. The structures were filled with hay and grain and agricultural implements. The loss is estimated at $7,000, with little insurance. At a late hour Edward Carso, aged 21, was arrested for firing the buildings. Carso was once committed to an asylum and was released as cured a year ago.

Wapakoneta—While jumping on moving gravel cars of the Western Ohio Electric railroad, Harry Sullivan, ten-year-old son of Mrs. Kate Sullivan, fell under the wheels and was badly crushed. When pulled up he worried about what his mother would say, and begged those carrying him to kill him. He died before his mother, who was in Dayton, could reach him.

Springfield—A panic was created at the Heavenly Rest church on South Plum street during services last night by the discovery that the floor was on fire. The choir was singing a hymn when the attention of those in the front pews was attracted by smoke. The alarm was given and the people rushed wildly from the church in spite of the efforts of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Wilder, to preserve order. No one was hurt. The fire was caused by the heat from the furnace igniting escaping gas. The loss was slight.

Columbus—Report comes from the Lewiston reservoir that hundreds of fish are being shot with guns. Sportsmen are incensed and there is a call for game wardens to stop the practice.

QUAIL SEASON

FOR THE YEAR 1901 IS NOW A THING OF THE PAST.

Birds in This County Were Not Plentiful—Game Laws to be Revised This Winter.

The quail season for 1901 closed Saturday night and now the sportsmen are exchanging stories of their experiences in the field. All are agreed that birds this season were few and many that were killed were undersized.

Some say storms during the summer had something to do with the scarcity of quail, but be the cause whatever it may the birds were scarce. The game law reads that quail can be shot from November 15th to December 1st, inclusive, but the "open season" included four Sundays, Nov. 10, 17 and 24, and Dec. 1, so the real hunting season was shorter than ever before.

Three or four had accidents occurred but the season so far as Licking county was concerned was free from fatalities, but as much can not be said for other sections of the state, where accidents were as numerous as usual.

Sportsmen of the state will get together early in January and endeavor to have suitable game laws passed by the state legislature. The law as it now stands on the books is contradictory and unsatisfactory.

The bill that will be passed the coming season will be framed by men who understand that a catfish and a quail are not the same thing.
